Constantinople, April 29.—Nadir Pasha, the second son of the late Sultan Abdul Hamid, was hanged at dawn today on the Galata bridge, the great thoroughfare that connects Stamboul with the suburbs of Galata and Pera. The body was allowed to swing until 8 o'clock in the morning and crowds of people stopped to look at the great Nubian whose name was a terror under Abdul Hamid. The dead man's face showed an underjaw and a heavy nose. In life he had been fully six feet four inches tall. Nadir was executed after a trial by court martial on the charge that he incited the mutiny of the troops on April 13. He was reputed to be intensely ambitious and insatiable to the sufferings of others. He was one of the trio that formed Abdul Hamid's private cabinet under the old regime. The other members of this cabinet were Ismail Pasha and Fethi Pasha. The former, the sultan's secretary, is now in hiding in London and the latter, who was head of the sultan's spy system, has been assassinated somewhere in Russia. Since the departure of Ismail Pasha and Fethi Pasha, Abdul Hamid has relied entirely upon Nadir who is regarded as having been the chief conspirator in the events of the 13th of April.

ELEVATOR FIRE

ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER IS MISSING.

Conflagration Thought to be Due to Violent Electrical Storm.

PROPERTY LOSS OVER ONE MILLION.

Wall Burst Out Without Warning and Caught the Firemen.

Chicago Visited by Vivid Electrical Fireworks Last Night.

Chicago, April 29.—One fireman was killed, another is missing and eight were seriously injured in a fire which destroyed Elevator B of the Illinois Central railroad, here early today.

The conflagration which was discovered in the height of a violent electrical storm completely consumed the elevator and its contents. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. The blaze fanned by a gale which swept in from the lake spread to the Illinois Central docks, to train sheds and freight cars, and it was with great difficulty that the firemen checked the fire from a general spread over the lake front yards of the railroad company.

The structure's bins choked with wheat, corn, oats, and rice, was a mass of flames by the time the first fire company reached the scene. Though a heavy rain was falling, the building burned like a tinder box and firemen of truck No. 2 were caught under a falling wall which burst out without warning. Lieut. Patrick McElliot was buried beneath the debris and was instantly killed. Eight others were trapped and seriously injured. They were hurried to the emergency hospital. One fireman lost an arm.

The Dead—LIEUTENANT PATRICK McELLIOT. The Missing—Mrs. Joseph Cooper.

The fire, it is believed, was caused by lightning. For hours the electrical storm which burst over the city shortly past midnight created much excitement.

The sky for miles around was brightly illuminated by the blaze from the elevator and huge burning embers spread over the city driven by the high wind. Many times the freight sheds of the Illinois Central and Wisconsin Central were on fire, and to save them from destruction necessitated the heroic and stubborn battle on the part of the firemen. The destroyed elevator was 125 feet high, 100 long and 50 wide. Elevator A, a similar structure, was also threatened but the fire men operating from the river saved it from destruction.

Put-in-Bay, O., April 29.—John Ledwell, keeper of Middle Island light, and Richard Carnegie, of Sandusky, came near losing their lives in last night's gale. This placed them at the mercy of the wind and sea. They moved helplessly about the lake until early today. When they were washed upon the east side of the island. The small boat was again lost in the darkness and the launch is damaged by being washed ashore on the rocks.

MISS HELEN MARDEN

Smith College Girl Shot to Death by Graduate of Dartmouth.

SHE REFUSED TO MARRY HIM.

Later He Used Revolver to Put an End to His Own Life.

Northampton, Mass., April 29.—Enraged and temporarily insane, it is believed because of her refusal to marry him, Porter Smith, who was graduated from Dartmouth College last June, today shot and fatally wounded Miss Helen Ayer Marden, of Somerville, Mass., a member of the senior class at Smith College, and then turning the revolver on himself committed suicide.

Miss Marden was taken to the Dickinson Hospital where she died shortly before noon. She was the daughter of Frank W. Marden, a Boston oil merchant who lives in Somerville.

Smith shot Miss Marden three times on the street near the college and when she had fallen then killed himself. It is not known whether or not the two had quarreled at the time of the shooting as no one was near them.

Chicago, April 29.—Porter Smith, whose tragic act at Northampton today was a great shock to his relatives, here was a traveling salesman for R. P. Smith and Sons, shoe manufacturers. The young man's father, J. N. Smith, up to the time of his death ten years ago was a member of the firm. The latter's two brothers, Edward E. and J. D. Smith at present conduct the house.

Porter returned to Chicago from a western trip only three days ago, said Edward E. Smith today. "We thought he had again gone into that territory selling shoes." Porter's sister, Emily, is a student at Smith's college and telegraphed as briefly this morning. The telegram, however, contained nothing but essential details of the shooting.

APRIL SNOW STORM

And Cold Northwest Wind Adds to Spiciness of New York.

DURING MONTH THE TEMPERATURE

Has Stood at Freezing During Some Hour of the Day.

New York, April 29.—After nearly a month of extremely cold and unreasonable weather, New York experienced a late April snow storm this morning. Snow began falling about 6 a. m., but after a slight flurry it ceased for a time. At 8 o'clock the snow flakes were falling as thick and fast as though it were February. Although a cold northeast wind was blowing the snow in the city melted as fast as it fell, but in the suburbs the ground was covered with a white blanket. This is the latest snow fall recorded in New York city since that of May 6, 1901, which was regarded as a freak of the temperature. Since the beginning of April only one warm day has been experienced, and all through the month the temperature has remained in the vicinity of freezing point at some time of the day.

HEAVIEST SNOW FALL OF WINTER.

Pittsburg, April 29.—The heaviest snow fall of the winter in northwestern Pennsylvania began shortly before last midnight, and at 9:30 o'clock this morning at Bradford the snow was ten inches deep and still falling. Snow shovels, stored away for the summer, had to be brought out again to clear the tracks of the western New York & Pennsylvania Traction company. All traffic is experiencing delays. Trees are loaded down and many telegraph and telephone wires have been broken by the heavy snow. In Pittsburg the weather is mild and two thunder storms today were suggestive of summer.

FATHER HAINS

TAKES STAND IN BE-HALF OF SON PETER

Who Seemed to be Without Interest in Events of Trial.

HE TESTIFIED THAT YOUNG MAN

Had Suffered from Nervousness All Through His Life.

Grandfather of Defendant Died of Senile Insanity.

Flushing, N. Y., April 29.—General Peter C. Hains, retired, father of Peter C. Hains, Jr., of the coast artillery, who is on trial before Justice Garretson in the supreme court here for the killing of William E. Anas, last August took the stand as the first witness for the defense at the resumption of the trial today.

John F. McIntyre, counsel for the defendant, expected to occupy two or three hours with the direct examination of the General, taking him over many of the early incidents of his son's life, to show the captain irritable and nervous temperament as a child and his many irrational acts previous to May, 1908, when he first learned of the alleged improper conduct of his wife, Claudia, with Anas. The defense contends that his troubles drove him into a state of total insanity subject to violent maniacal outbursts, during one of which he shot down the man who he believed ruined his home.

While his father was testifying the prisoner sat with his face toward the jury and paid no attention to him. Gen. Hains testified that he discovered at an early age of Capt. Hains' life that the boy was suffering from extreme nervousness. He said the captain graduated at Annapolis in 1892 but did not enter the naval service on account of defective eyesight. The conduct of Claudia Hains toward her husband, the Captain, during their early marriage as that of a "loving wife."

He said that they were very happy until 1898. During the Porto Rican campaign the captain, then a lieutenant of artillery, was a member of his command the general said, and at times acted rather queer.

The General said that Captain Hains was nervous and irritable while at Port Hamilton. The General met his son at Hotel Astor, New York on May 3.

I asked him what had brought him home, "and he showed me a package of letters and said he was greatly troubled. He had heard reports from Claudia, his wife, but did not believe them, he said. "She may have been indiscreet," the captain said, "continued the witness, "and I told him she had been more than indiscreet; that she had been unfaithful. 'My God, you don't think that,' exclaimed the Captain, he asked, 'I told him that she had been away for a week and nobody, not even the servants knew where she was and when she returned she was in bed a week. The captain censured me for not letting him know about these things and said he wanted me to help him investigate and settle it. 'We can go to the country where Claudia said she had been and find out if it was true,' said the captain."

The General said his son was greatly excited at that time but would not say his condition was irrational. The following day when the general met him he appeared very nervous and looked haggard, the witness said.

District Attorney Dewitt objected to the examination of Gen. Hains on the question of the infidelity of Anas.

After getting General Hains to say his father died from "senile insanity," Mr. McIntyre excused the witness.

BABY DAUGHTER DROWNED IN TUB.

Detroit, Mich., April 29.—Playing about a wastub which her mother had left standing in the kitchen from Moynahan, fifteen-month-old daughter of Charles Moynahan, a laborer, living at 1130 Central avenue, fell into the water. When her mother returned from a neighbor's, whither she had gone for a few moments to return a borrowed article, she discovered the child floating in the tub.

Life was not yet extinct, and Mrs. Moynahan working frantically, tried to revive the babe, but in vain. She hurried out in search of a doctor, but the Moynahans live in a sparsely settled section, and the nearest physician was a mile away. Before he could be located the child was dead.

ROSS COUNTY WET.

Voters Decide in Favor of Continuance of the Saloon There.

TWO THOUSAND MAJORITY FOR IT.

Many Arrests Were Made, the Victims Being of Both Sides.

Chillicothe, O., April 29.—Chillicothe went "wet" by 1,982, county precincts "dry" by 462, county as unit and remains wet, therefore. These are the official figures.

Chillicothe, O., April 28.—Ross county yesterday voted "wet" by a majority estimated at close to 2,000. The city of Chillicothe gave a "wet" majority of about 1,500. The county outside of the city, however, was carried by a comparatively small majority against the "drys."

While the battle was decidedly spirited and there were many arrests there was no serious disorder. Greatly exaggerated reports of conditions in Chillicothe were sent out in the course of the day but these were quickly refuted.

The many arrests were made on technical charges. In practically every instance the arrest was made that some leader might be removed from the scene of the fray for a time so that he could "cool down." Several arrests were made on charges of assault, but in practically every case the "assault" was simply the laying of a hand upon the arm of another. Owing to the large number of arrests in the day, Judge Goldsberry and Sheriff Swopes endeavored to wear in 43 special deputies, but enough material could not be found so they called upon some members of Company H, Fourth regiment, O. N. G., to assist.

Their services were not needed, however.

For the most part, the work at the polls was carried on good-naturedly and there was not a real fight all day.

Ministers Under Arrest.
The wholesale arrests started early in the morning when Rev. C. W. Eldridge, of Cincinnati, an Anti-Saloon league worker, was making the "dry" campaign here, was jailed for trespass. He was released soon on bond and promptly retaliated by having five prominent "wet" workers who were in the same predicament in which he was arrested, proceeded for alleged buying of votes. They were released on bonds and then the arresting war began.

The climax came at noon when Attorney J. D. Withport, a "dry" worker, went to Kingston and swore out a warrant against Chief of Police, Penderson, of Chillicothe, charging him with assault.

Without had gone to the city prison when Rev. C. W. Eldridge was jailed and had said something which caused the chief to take hold of him. This was what the assault charge was based on.

The chief called up Kingston and waited examination and arranged for a bond, which was accepted.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mayor Goodman, of Kingston, changed his mind, however, as this city to arrest the chief. The mission was "kipped off," however, and the chief was notified.

The marshal came up behind the chief on High street. There the chief was in a big touring car. The marshal was almost within hailing distance when Penderson saw him and then he gave a yell to his chauffeur. The car off like a shot up the street.

Chief Was Too Speedy.
They went out the plank road with March White in the Kingston auto in but put out the car touring car soon. In the Kingston machine far in the rear, and then lost it in the county cross roads.

By the time the chief returned to the city the other side some of his friends had got out. Late in evening, however, they allowed Marshal White to arrest him, only to be released at once by Sheriff Swopes with papers in the habeas corpus process.

The chairman of the Kingston automobile was then arrested for having exceeded the speed limit in the city.

Last night there were parades in the city. Hundreds of men marched the streets, but there was no disorder. The saloons were all closed.

In the county districts it was about an even break. The victory of the "wets" was due in a large measure to the efforts of the merchants and manufacturers in the city, many of whom insisted that "dry" conditions here and in the county would be merely a farce, owing to the various ways of getting around the law.

Many of them declared also that to vote the county "wet" would be ruinous to business.

Women and children took an active part in the doings of the day, devoting their energies particularly to the locality of the polls.

Several women were using cameras at the polls, but this was halted by the police.

Hottest in County's History.
The fight was the hottest ever witnessed in Ross county. For the last month both sides had waged an unceasing conflict.

The election was held under the Ross county unit law. Mayor Yaple and the city administration had the "wet" forces, while the campaign of the "drys" was conducted by many persons prominent in the anti-saloon cause, aided by local ministers and others.

From the advertisers' standpoint, one newspaper in the city is worth a dozen on the highway.

The Elks in Wapak who belong to Lima Lodge, but are desirous of having a lodge there, will take a census of that city to see whether it has the necessary 5,000 population.

The term of the commission given by Governor Harris to John H. Morgan as inspector of workshops and factories expired Wednesday, and it is expected that Governor Harmon will soon name a successor. There are a number of applicants for the place and a new one appeared Wednesday, when friends called upon Governor Harmon in the interest of W. H. Shauk, of Mansfield.

The governor will also probably within a few days name a successor Labor Commissioner Lewis, who died in Cleveland on Wednesday morning. There have been but few applicants for this place, as Mr. Lewis' time would not have expired for more than a year.

There should be band concert every week during the summer months. Who will start the movement?

The De Laval Cream Separator Co. have furnished their local representatives, W. Throckmorton, territorial superintendent, and his able assistants, B. F. Black and J. K. Lowe, with a new 22 horse power Buick automobile for use in their delivery of separators. These gentlemen are duly proud of the machine, it being the first placed in delivery service by their company.

The postoffice department has issued an order to the effect that only hotel clerks shall handle the mail of patrons of hotels in the future. The order was the result of numerous complaints of mail sent in care of hotels not being received, the impression being that in most cases it was taken by the wrong parties who asked for mail and were given permission to look over the bunch.

Although the order is for the protection of the traveling men, it is said to be unfavorably received by many who will, however, come to realize its benefits in a short time.

RACE QUESTION MADE AN ISSUE.

(By Orville C. Riddle.)
Columbus, O., April 27.—An important fact for all owners of real estate in Ohio to remember is that there would have been a reappraisal of such property next year regardless of the new law providing for quadrennial reappraisement passed at the recent special session of the legislature.

Heretofore such reappraisements were made every ten years, and next year would have been the regular time for reappraising real estate under the decennial plan. These reappraisements were coincident with but entirely separate from the taking of the federal census.

Next year the census will be taken by local enumerators appointed through the census bureau at Washington, and real estate in town and country will be revalued for taxation by assessors elected by the people at the local elections next November.

These land assessors are separate and distinct from the assessors elected annually to appraise chattel property.

So be prepared for a thorough quizzing during the first half of the year 1910 by representatives of the federal and local governments as to your worldly possessions and various details of family history.

As stated before, there would have been a reappraisal of real estate next year even though the legislature had not passed the bill providing for such reappraisements every four years hereafter. Instead of every ten years as heretofore, this is very important and should be kept well in mind.

It so happens that the first reappraisal under the quadrennial plan coincides with the old decennial period. This coincidence in time had much to do with the enactment of the Rathbun quadrennial reappraisal bill at the recent special session.

Under the old law the decennial land appraisals were elected at the local elections formerly held in April. Since the decennial reappraisal, spring elections were abolished. As there would have been no election next April, it became necessary to pass a law to provide for the election of land assessors for 1910 at the municipal and township elections to be held this year.

Sentiment in favor of more frequent reappraisement of land for taxation having grown quite potential in recent years, the necessary change in time of electing land assessors afforded opportunity to hitch the two propositions together and drive them through the legislature at the recent session.

As was shown at the national congress on taxation held in Columbus two years ago, that Ohio was one of the last two states in the Union to cling to the decennial plan of appraising real estate.

Most of the states have either a five-year or a four-year period; some revalue lands every two years and a few appraise lands annually the same as chattels.

When the Rathbun bill was up for consideration it was argued that the change from decennial to quadrennial reappraisements could be made at this time without violent disturbance to land values.

This point came out forcibly when the attempt was made during the session of 1903 to pass the West bill for quadrennial reappraisal, beginning with this year. That bill passed the senate but was defeated in the house. There was general opposition to it, especially from the cities, because time purchases, leaseholds and ordinary rentals negotiated with the expectation that tax values would remain fixed until 1910 would be disturbed a year before the end of the period, thereby working injustice to all who had based their calculations on the last decennial reappraisal.

When the West bill it was contended that it would be time enough to make the proposed change at or after the end of the current decennial period. This argument was not forgotten when the Rathbun bill came up this session.

Fearing that the old cry of disturbing contractual values would be raised against any attempt to reduce the taxing period after the reappraisal next year, on the ground that a fixed valuation for ten years would be implied, advocates of the quadrennial plan took time by the forelock in getting the quadrennial bill through at the special session this year. What would otherwise have been the regular decennial reappraisal next year will be in fact the first reappraisal under the new law.

All present and prospective owners of real estate will know that the valuations assessed next year will run for a period of four instead of ten years, and can govern themselves accordingly. It is important not only to know but also to remember this fact.

All this may seem to be a "dry" subject to most people. It is indeed difficult to write about in a way that would attract as much attention as the baseball scores, divorce cases, murders, misdemeanors, freaks and fancies of current events claim from those who read the newspapers, magazines and comic columns of today.

But it is a very important, very serious subject to every taxpayer, whether owner or tenant of farm or town properties in the state of Ohio, just now. It concerns us vastly more than the revision of the tariff (upward) by its friends in progress at Washington.

Quadrennial reappraisal is not a real factor of taxation reform, although a desperate effort will be made by those who hindered all such reform by the legislature at the recent special session to show that it is.

FOOD, NOT MEDICINE, CURES CONSTIPATION.

Why Cathartics Make Constipation Worse. (Care Must Only in Certain Cases.)

How to Cure Constipation Permanently.

Constipated men, women and children who go around trouble for two or three days at a time are the ones who more easily than any other people, fall victims to some disease.

People who eat the right kind of food never have constipation.

Such people are rare. Cathartics wash out the bowels. They also flush out the natural grease-the-way secretion which nature furnishes to make the bowels do their work easy and on time.

When these secretions are cleaned out, the bowels become mere dead-pipes. Constipation more than ever is the immediate result.

Constipation is cured by food alone and it can be cured by food, so that it will never return to poison the blood and every organ of the body.

Cereus is a remarkable food-remedy that contains no drugs, and yet that cures permanently constipation, indigestion, fermentation, dyspepsia and biliousness. Every one of these it will knock "Why?"

Because Cereus consists of selected cereals, combined by a remarkable scientific process, with the essence of juicy fruits and vegetables, a combination which no case of constipation or stomach trouble can withstand.

Cereus is, besides, an intense nutriment, a delicious food, and is liked by old and young.

Quit your pills and cathartics. Forget you ever had tight bowels. Serve Cereus to the whole family. They'll relish it. You'll notice the difference in your own condition. You'll feel better all over; you won't be bilious nor have headaches; your appetite will grow sharper and indigestion will be a thing of the past; your constipation will disappear; you'll feel rosy and happy.

Cereus is sold by your grocer at 25c a package. One package will last you a month, or your whole family a week.

Cereus at your grocers at 25c a package.

Changes in the state of Ohio. Industries work contrary effects, especially upon the minor centers. Within state boundaries the removal of any large enterprise will prostrate the place deserted and start a land boom at the new location. Trust concentration has had its baneful effect on more than one Ohio town that once boasted of "the hum of industry" as its sweetest music.

Mills shut down causing men to migrate have caused more than one real estate boom to collapse.

Although quadrennial reappraisal will more automatically adjust tax values to town area subdivided into lots, and to suburban extensions and to farm lands adjacent to rapidly growing towns and cities, there is general depreciation going on everywhere in the state to remember in the reckoning.

Four years hence the shrewd land owner will want a very good reason if his valuation is not reduced from the rating made next year.

Agricultural lands beyond the environs of growing towns and cities cannot be exported to enhance in value every four years by arithmetical progression.

All these factors in the equation make it highly important that you remember when the land assessor comes around next year how Governor Harmon urged upon the present legislature practical legislation that would meet immediate conditions, and how his recommendations were deliberately ignored because of the partisan animosities of the majority of its members.

Which brings the whole matter to its unavoidable conclusion. There are many properties in the state on which the tax valuation reasonably will be raised next year because of changed conditions during the past ten years. There are others, of course, which will claim allowance for depreciation.

This reappraisal would have been made anyway, as stated before, and the result of it would be the same, whether called a decennial reappraisal or a quadrennial reappraisal.

If there should be a general upward trend in tax valuations on land next year responsibility must rest on the present legislature, which emulated the example of Nero when Rome burned, although Governor Harmon repeatedly urged reasonable action to meet immediate needs of the state.

Muskogee, Okla., April 27.—A bitterly contested election for a complete city ticket is in progress here today. The endorsement of the Haskell state administration and the race question are the chief issues.

SECOND PERIOD WILL END SATURDAY AT 8 O'CLOCK.

All Subscriptions Must be Reported in Order That Candidates May Get Votes for This Period.

Slowly But Sure the Vote is Increasing, But the Finish Will be Exciting.—Candidates Watching Each Other's Standing and When the Rush Starts Look Out.

While there is absolutely no danger of the contest manager dying of over-exertion in trying to keep track of the votes cast yesterday, yet that dull ominous silence that is prevalent in the atmosphere at present speaks louder than words. Experience has proven that in a contest of this kind, the quietest and the most unassuming is always the one who is expected in the next several days. In the vernacular of the streets there is going to be something done before many days pass. Saturday sees the ending of the second period with only two weeks more and then the contest will all be over. The candidates have all settled down to hard work in subscription getting and the quiet but determined policy they have adopted is going to cause some wonderful surprises in the end.

The work of organization has started among the candidates and each one realizes fully that her success depends to a great extent upon the efforts of her friends in endeavoring to receive as many active workers as possible.

Few, if any, of the candidates entered into the contest who are not members of some lodge, social, literary, or religious organization and they are looking so time in bringing their candidacy before the organizations of which they are members and securing their endorsement as a body.

No lady in the contest has any amount of spare time, and while it is true that they are able to see personally a great many of their friends, it is manifestly impossible to make personal calls upon all of them, and the candidate who is able to secure assistance from relatives or friends will be the candidate who begins preparation after the contest is over for a five weeks journey to the land of beauty, romance and historical interest; to take the trip of a life time in the personally conducted Tour-of-Europe as an especial guest of the Times-Democrat, with all expenses paid.

Friends of candidates who are desirous of seeing them successful can secure information as to how best to aid them in the contest by the contest department. To secure a subscription or two is a little thing to do, yet it may be the one thing necessary to the success of the deserving candidate.

While the guessers are busy solving the various problems of the contest the candidates themselves are more than busy getting subscriptions and ballots.

Great interest is manifest in the contest by the citizens in the smaller towns in the county. Every day the contest manager is being questioned as to the best manner that candidates can be assisted and from the looks of things the rural districts will have some surprises before the contest draws to a close.

An error in the make-up of the heading of last night's article on the contest might convey to the people interested the impression that Miss Kathryn O'Brien intended to withdraw. Such is not the case as Miss O'Brien will remain in the contest until the finish.

SENATOR RAYNOR GETS INTO TARIFF GAME.

He Denounces Free Trade and Lampoons Payne-Aldrich Bill.

BELIEVES IN CUSTOM HOUSE

Taxation But it Should Not Reach Beyond Revenue Stage.

Trusts Branded as Human Cormorants Who Bleed the Consumer.

Washington, D. C., April 29.—Declaring that free trade is impracticable in this country, and asserting that not a single democrat would vote for it if presented to him in a bill, Senator Raynor of Maryland, in the senate today delivered an address denouncing the Payne-Aldrich tariff measure as tending to provide revenue and protecting the industries controlled by trusts rather than giving any relief to the consumers of the country. Mr. Raynor frequently entered upon oratorical flights and concluded with a series of condemnations of the so-called trusts of the country. He declared his belief in incidental protection in order to maintain wages of American workmen.

"I have never believed in free trade between this country and any other countries," Mr. Raynor said. "I think from every practical standpoint it is perfectly preposterous to talk about it. I think the country would vote such a proposition down almost with practical unanimity. I believe in custom house taxation and I do not believe any other system will ever take its place to the satisfaction of the American people. Free trade is not the question before us, and no amount of reproach and adjectives will deter me from stating what the question really is. If there were a resolution now before the senate in favor of the entire abolition of tariff duties I do not believe that the doctrine of free trade would receive a single vote upon our side of the chamber."

Reading from the democratic platform of 1876 and 1892, Mr. Raynor said, "that embodied his party's axiom, 'and that is,' he added, 'that we have no constitutional power to collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue.' The pending tariff bill, he declared, should be entitled 'A bill to encourage the industries of the United States and for no other purpose.' He did not believe it would add very much to our present revenue collections. He characterized the whole framework of the measure as protection and revenue afterwards. If he had the framing of a tariff bill he said he would levy the lowest tax possible upon the necessities of life and the highest tax possible upon the luxuries, and 'would protect American goods as to materials at all times the standard of American wages. Throughout the whole bill I would look out for the consumer. You may examine this bill, outside of the free list and it is almost impossible to discover the consumer in any of its complicated schedules."

Speaking humorously upon what he declared to be the inconsistencies of the measure in determining what were raw materials he recounted his experiences as a member of the house of representatives while the Wilson bill was under consideration. "The bill will not, and it does not," predicted Mr. Raynor, "in any substantial degree lower prices to the consumer; and I make another prediction, and that is that this bill will not in any substantial degree affect the inordinate profits that the protected industries are now receiving through custom-house taxation."

Mr. Raynor combatted the idea that the greedy corporations of the country benefit the consumers by utilizing economies or increased wages. On the other hand, he declared of the trusts: "They limit production, they lower wages, they contract the demand for labor, they throttle competition, they monopolize the wealth of the land, they withdraw it from the channels of circulation, and when they are driven from one state they obtain their franchise in another and then return with insolence to pursue their calling in the place from which they are banished. I can look around in my own state and observe that whenever a new enterprise is started that comes in conflict with them they sweep down upon it as the cormorant does upon his prey, and that their rapacity is never appeased so long as a spark of vitality is left in any competitor that crosses their path."

"I do not find within this bill a line or sentence that weakens their grasp upon the commerce of the country. On the contrary, they show their hate from in almost every schedule of the bill."

"As against them, if I had the opportunity in the framing of a tariff bill I would open the ports of entry of this republic. I would bring them in competition with the markets of the world. It is said that if we do this, we will interfere with other industries that are competing with them. There is hardly a word of truth in that statement, because they tolerate no rivalry and permit no interference."

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.

The air of Switzerland at an elevation of 2,000 feet is free from microbes.

London has 96,926 outstanding licenses for drivers of motor-cars and motor-cycles.

Exports of New Zealand in 1908 were $18,000,000 less in value than in 1907. Reduced prices of wool account for half the decrease.

All told, a Hollander pays about 12 per cent of his yearly income for taxes. He is taxed for his business income, for the interest he collects, on his house rent, his furniture, on his fireplace and all the stoves in the house he rents or owns, on his horses, bicycle and servants. On an income of $2,400 a year he pays $298.

Stock growers in the vicinity of the lava beds in Klamath county, Oregon, are much alarmed over rumblings heard in subterranean passages under the lava. These are attributed to the giving away of the walls of some of these caverns, but several scientists who have examined the neighborhood declare that under the beds is still a molten mass of lava, which occasionally bursts out, causing the curious rumblings.

Attention is seldom called to a remarkable and curious characteristic of the olive tree. After many years of growth the large branches of the trees separate gradually from the trunk until they are quite divided from one another down to the root. These then slowly move apart and in the area which before surrounded the main tree and they will sometimes be as much as twenty feet apart.

Manitoba became a province in 1870. Its population was 62,260 in 1871, 152,506 in 1891, and 255,211 in 1901. The state of Manitoba's harvest last year was a little short of 100,000,000 bushels. The census of 1906 placed Winnipeg, its capital city, a population of 90,000. There is nothing wild in a guess that its present population is not far from 120,000.

Servians in their good nature and love for humor are said to remind travelers of the Irish peasantry. They are hospitable to strangers, their patriotism is benevolent, almost quixotic, and they take great interest in politics. Many of the gentlemen in the towns and cities come from abroad as the Serbian girl is too independent for domestic service.

FOR TWO CENTS.

A question asked of the Boston Herald why there was no more two-cent pieces brought the information that there should be 28,634,534 of them in existence. Between 1864, when the coinage was authorized, and 1873, when it was discontinued, more than 45,000,000 of the coins had been put out. Since then less than 17,000,000 have been retired, so the rest of them are somewhere, even if they are lost. The coinage and its cessation reveal in outline some interesting history. After the years of trial no particular mission had been discovered for the 2-cent piece. An extra cost had to be added to buy a postage stamp, and the day of the 2-cent newspaper had hardly come. There was a 3-cent piece, which answered the purpose of daily incidental purchases, as indicated by the fact that the coinage of the nickel 3-cent piece continued until 1890. Then it died for a similar reason. By that time the 2-cent newspaper had fully arrived. Two-cent letter postage had come. Day-gain counter stores had begun to introduce odd prices, and so the 2-cent piece was found, like the veteran, lagging superfluous on the stage, and was withdrawn.

But with a lack of enterprise that is surprisingly true of our government in many things—no one seemed to see that the way had been opened for the place literally made for the 2-cent piece and to urge the resumption of its coinage. It has been done and we are in need of it today. Ours is the only great nation that has not a coin of that kind in its national currency system. Great Britain's penny answers to it; France's 10-centime piece; Germany's 10-pfennig; Austria's 10-heller; Italy's 10-centesimo; Portugal's 20-reis piece; Mexico's 5-centavos, and Japan's 5-sen piece. The omission seems the more unusual on our part since we have the 2-cent standard in our postage, and more than this that we have a standard of purchases recurring daily on the 2-cent basis which we must reach with the nickel and three-cent pieces in change. Perhaps a "nickel reform" is closed and we have directly attention to monetary affairs, some one may suggest that there is a field and place for a 2-cent piece in our coinage. LAW AGAINST JUSTICE.

Does it sound sensational to declare that American law, to a very large extent, makes for injustice? The facts are as sensational as the sound. The American Bar association has admitted it; leading judges have admitted it; and President Taft has framed a pointed amendment that no judgment, civil or criminal, should be set aside unless it appears affirmatively that the error of the complaint had resulted in miscarriage of justice. American's often mourn about lynch law. Not always do they take into account the part played by the law's delay in encouraging rough attempts at justice. In England procedure is swift, and punishment fol-

THE WEATHER.

Washington, D. C., April 29.—For Ohio—Rain tonight; warmer, except in extreme southwest portion.

Aldrich is proving to be the same old friend—to the trust.

The republican promise of "tariff revision," is turning out to be tariff filibuster, just as everybody who stopped to think of the party's past record knew it would.

Where Harris made a mistake was that he didn't appoint himself to succeed himself. The supreme court would have found a law to sustain him in his position against all comers.

IT'S WOMAN'S WORK.

What would you think if Governor Harmon were to put a woman in charge of the girl's industrial home at Delaware?

Whether he can do so legally is not altogether clear. On the moral side all the argument would favor
such a step.

The law requires and the courts have held that the trustees of public institutions must be men. This comes in a roundabout way from the legal qualifications that a public officer must be an elector, the construction of the courts in this connection being that elector is masculine because only men have the full franchise, and concomitant ruling of the courts that trustees of public institutions are officers.

Whether this is so broad as to include also the executive head of a state institution has never been tested. It is a mooted question which is made a bit more intricate by court decisions that women are not electors although they have been enfranchised to the extent of the school ballot. So much for the legal entanglements.

Looking squarely at the other side of the question, the human side, it would seem reasonable to stretch a point in this instance. Here is an institution dedicated exclusively to the reformation of incorrigible girls. It is an eleemosynary institution as some suppose, being part of the state's penal system, the same as the industrial school for boys at Lancaster. For that very reason, it appeals with greater potency to the interest and sympathy of woman-kind. It also affords a useful field of labor nearer home than Borrio-boola Gha.

Women's clubs and societies have responded with alacrity to the appeal of Mrs. Harmon in behalf of the girls at the Delaware Home. The result will be a more material interest in the institution than ever before.
Good influences are being set in motion that cannot be aroused to the same degree by ordinary activities of institutional discipline and management. How to best promote the auxiliary work the women of Ohio can accomplish by intelligent effort is the problem with the governor
just now.

Common sense makes it consistent that an institution for the custody and training of women should be under the fostering care of women to the greatest possible extent.
Since women cannot be named for trustees of the Delaware Home, and since the same institution would probably require a full fledged "elector" for superintendence, some way might be found to give the matron superintendence in the executive conduct of the home.

BATTLE HALF WON.

Having read the suggestion made in this paper last night that some-generous citizens could win for himself the plaudits and everlasting love of the children of Lima if he would purchase the two cub bears in the Central Drug Store window, and present them to the city for placement in one of the city parks, has been half adopted. Mr. H. P. Maize, the bustling general merchandiser and piano dealer of Lafayette, who owns one of the little fellows read the suggestion and he announces today that he will give the cub he owns to the city providing some one will buy the other and do likewise. Who will come forth, purchase the other, and present it to the city for park purposes thus keeping them together as playmates, and providing the children who visit the park a constant source of amusement and pleasure?

No, look you! some time
back of means does not mean
Mr. Maize is a resident of Lafayette, but was in his vibrant majority and was a child!

THE RESULT.

Commenting on the result of the local option election held in Delaware county and Municipal Indiana
the Muncie Star says:

There can be no doubt as to the real meaning of the overwhelming success of the anti-saloon movement in Muncie and Delaware county yesterday. Had the vote been close the question might have been raised that a true and accurate expression of public opinion had not been secured, but the utter rout of the licensed liquor traffic not only in the rural districts but in Muncie and Center township is conclusive evidence that the people, who have a right to decide these problems for themselves, are thoroughly tired of the saloon as it has been conducted here. The outcome of the vigorous campaign, in which every effort was expended by both sides to carry the day, leaves no uncertainty as to the wishes of the people. They have spoken emphatically that, in their belief, the saloon as it is constituted and operated, is a nuisance and undesirable proposition.

In the part that it played in the contest, The Star endeavored to refrain from personalities, being determined to attack only the traffic.
During the progress of the struggle,
this paper was assailed unwarrantedly from several sources but, acting on the principle that justice and right will prevail, it went ahead ignoring all unfair thrusts and criticisms.
That this was the better course to pursue is already borne out by the high estimate now held of The Star not only by the opponents of the saloon but by the fair-minded voters and followers of the other side. The Star determined at the outset to publish what it considered would be for the best interests of the people as a whole. This policy was endorsed yesterday by the voters of the city and county in terms that cannot be misunderstood. The voters cast their ballots as they individually preferred to do, and the county shows they chose to stand for decency and high morals, which was the fight waged by this paper.

The saloons will not all be closed until five months more. In the interim, the anti-saloonists, backed by the best elements of society, will prepare to forestall any plan to sell intem-perating liquors with illegal methods.
In other words, since public sentiment is so pronounced against the traffic in a legal form, it surely will be more positive in its demands that the business shall not be tolerated in an illicit form. Therefore, the movement, begun last night immediately upon the report of the great anti-saloon victory, to wage war on "blind tigers," "boot-leggers" and their ilk, has the unqualified indorsement
of The Star and will be supported by this paper to its utmost ability. Law and order must be enforced, the lawless class know unmistakably from yesterday's election that their day has passed in Muncie. Henceforth, they must respect the law and conduct themselves accordingly. Maize himself declared against such institutions as the saloon and its attendant evil resorts and the desires of the people must be heeded. There must be a cleaning up of the "red light" district at the earliest possible moment and barriers raised against any possible revival of such places.

Necessarily, there must be some re-adjustment of local business conditions, but we are confident this readjustment will be attained happily and speedily. The immense sums of money heretofore squandered in the saloon, will find other questionable purposes, and the natural outgrowth of the saloon, will find other questionable channels. It is reasonable to believe there will not be so much drunkenness or so much lawlessness, entailing heavy public expense in the arrest and prosecution of the offenders and in the enforcement of law and order generally in the city. The readjustment should improve not only the moral tone of the community but the standard of business. The bettering of moral conditions alone would be well worth any loss that might arise from a shrinkage in city values and rentals and the loss, but, as to the latter, we think those persons who have been predicting such direful consequences, will be agreeably disappointed.

"All in all, the result yesterday was for the most good to the most people and that is the purpose of our form of government."

A COURT DECISION.

No surprise was caused by the decision of the supreme court of Ohio
in the Hoyt-Metcalf judgeship contest.

Aside from the hairs that were split and the technicalities which furnished pegs on which to hang a decree, it is not out of place to state that the republican judge comes out beneficiary of the decision. What else did you expect?

Here was a judge appointed to fill out the unexpired term of another judge who died after having been re-elected for a term beginning one whole month after the retirement of Andrew L. Harris from the office of acting governor. In anticipation of the change in the office of governor, Harris appointed Metcalf not only for the balance of the unexpired term which he had a right to do, but also could not ensue until Feb. 9, one month after the inauguration of Governor Harmon.

WELCOME NEWS.

Reilly and Miller Join the Cigarmakers.

A report has been received from Lancaster that A. Reilly, the fast little outfielder and first baseman Miller, of the Columbus club have joined the Cigarmakers. Miller played the initial sack for the Senators a part of last season, and is a star outfielder which will make a valuable addition to the local squad.
While Reilly needs no introduction to the fans, as he won a place in the hearts of all Ohio State League fans last season. It is not known whether the remainder of the American Association clubs have waived their rights to these players but it is to be hoped that such is the case.
With Reilly, Foutz and Miller in the outfield and Flak taking care of the second sack, the locals will present a formidable array of talent, and will make the other teams hustle
some to keep pace with them.

It is rumored that the Lima management has asked for waivers on "Buchnell" Bill Parsons, and his
"Vortkamp" drug store.

LINCOLN COURT

Entertains Ben Hur Degree
Team from Wapak.

Lincoln Court No. 23, Tribe of Ben Hur, had a large initiation and social session last night at their rooms in the Central building. A degree team from the neighboring town of Wapakoneta put on the initiatory work, and the party included Mr.
and Mrs. B. L. Vate, Mr. and Mrs.

Mrs. Mary Spees, Messrs. Guy Har-

were others in the party which spent

Mr. C. D. Crites, of the First Na-

Mr. E. T. Mitchell, of the City Bank

Some Proof That Helen McDermott and Boyle
Are Not

LEGALLY WEDDED

Trial of Pair Begins at Nine O'clock Tomorrow in Mercer.

Belief That She Was Ever
Married to Frank
Parker, Dropped.

Mercer, Pa., April 29.—Everything is in readiness for the trial of James H. Boyle on the charge of kidnapping "Billy" Whittia, at Sharon, last month. The case is set for nine o'clock tomorrow and counsel on both sides are ready to go ahead with it. Detectives are said to be searching for Frank York, believed to live at 226 east Eighteenth street, New York City. The prosecution will attempt to prove by him that the woman now known as Mrs. Boyle was married to York in Indiana. The detectives in the case have dropped the theory that Mrs. Boyle was ever married to Frank Parker in Missouri.

Kansas City, April 29.—In an effort to prove that Helen McDermott and James Boyle now being held in Mercer, Pa., for the kidnapping of Willie Whittia are not legally married, Iva V. Kepter, a Pittsburg detective has arrived here to search the local records for a marriage certificate. Kepter seeks evidence to show that Miss McDermott was married here to Frank Parker who is now in the Missouri penitentiary.

ELEVEN MINUTE SESSION.

Washington, April 29.—The house was in session for eleven minutes today. TOOLS DISCOVERED

In the Cell of the Baughman Brothers in the Federal Jail.

HAD PLANNED
THEIR ESCAPE.

Prisoners Will be Watched
More Carefully in the Future.

Robert and James Baughman, 29 and 18 years old respectively, the federal prisoners who made a sensational escape from the county jail at Indianapolis on the afternoon of March 9th, have been busily planning another escape since their capture, and Tuesday afternoon, says the Indianapolis News, Sheriff Woerner and his deputies discovered a choice selection of saws and other tools in their cell.

It is suspected that a confederate has been assisting them in preparing tools.

An inspection of the bedtick of the cell showed that the saws were hidden under and in it. When the deputies had finished their search they had found two saws made from knives stolen from the dining table, another carefully rigged up saw made from the mangle spring of a watch, a thin piece of steel which had not been noticed, and a file which had probably been stolen from a workman sent to fix the locks on the cell doors. It is thought that the watch spring and the thin piece of steel were slipped to them from the outside. Another find was a key to the cell door made from a piece of wood.

Last March the Baughman brothers, alleged postoffice robbers and safe blowers, slipped through a ventilating hole leading from the main corridor of the jail, climbed in the ventilator shaft until they reached the northwest tower of the jail, broke out the top of the tower and climbed to the ground by means of a drain pipe. Their escape was discovered soon afterward and a general alarm was given, but they were able to elude bloodhounds and detectives and escaped from the city. They were arrested early next morning at Franklin, after they had robbed a store and stolen a horse and buggy. When the boys were returned to the jail they seemed very proud of their exploit.

"The boys have read so many dime novels that they are anxious to imitate the heroes of those tales," said Jailer Turk. "They come from a part of Ohio that knew Marvin Kuhn, the desperado, and they have an ambition to be like him."

Sheriff Woerner will continue to keep a careful watch on the boys,

The Grange

This Department is Under the Auspices of the Allen County Pomona Grange, Edited by W. S. Engle, R. R. 5, Lima, to Whom All Matter for the Department Must be Addressed.

The Grange organizes and disposes of the land of the many in importance than the wealth of the individual. They learn there are better things than prize money and come to look upon the altruistic vision of those who have been quickened by such influences make for the bettering of the sort of citizen that the rural community is to have. The value of our organization is not only in the educational value of our organization upon the social life of the rural community, but in the realm of figures and would attempt at computation. Farmers learn to be at ease in gatherings, gain a practical knowledge of parliamentary procedure, acquire a facility in the expression of their opinions such as has been unknown to those who do not have an opportunity for such development. Life on the farm, in the home and in the community is made better worth the living by reason of the Grange.

Grange and Legislation.
By Hon. John Begg.
It is certainly very gratifying to the members of the Grange in the various states to see the many new governmental reforms which have been so persistently advocated by the institution of the order being adopted one at a time by our national and state legislatures. As an instance of this we refer to the enactment of the Pure Food Law by the United States Senate after 15 years time for legislation by that august body. Grange and International Arbitration.
At the late session of the National Grange a commission on international arbitration, with Mortimer Whitehead as chairman, was appointed. Its purpose is to cooperate with the numerous peace societies of the country and to carry on a propaganda for international arbitration. A great ruler might do a great deal in behalf of universal peace, but unless the people hold up his hands complete results could not be assured. In this age when the country is crying so loudly for internal improvement it would be a most beneficent end if the tremendous energies of the army and navy could be turned to building ship canals, good roads, or improvement of harbors, etc., instead of destroying property and human lives.

In Washington county it costs about $10,000 to pave a mile of country road. It costs $193,000 to maintain the repairs annually of a first class battleship. This is a very insignificant item in the naval budget, yet it would bless some mud-barged country district with 19 miles of pavement. When ex-President Roosevelt sailed out of New York harbor, Fort Hamilton fired 13 guns in honor of his passing. There went up in smoke that did nobody any good sufficient means to get on its feet industrial education for one or more counties. Reader, some rainy day retire into your snugery and try to grasp in imagination what a change would be wrought if the war and naval budgets could be used as suggested and every soldier and sailor should become a wealth producer instead of a wealth consumer.

Universal peace is not a dream. It falls in the category of probabilities. The fighting spirit of a nation is the aggregate of the light in each of its citizens. The same is true of its spirit for peace. If a sense of justice and humanitarian impulses do not bring the tax payers into line for a permanent court the appalling expense of maintaining an army and navy will. It is a part of Grange teaching to arbitrate rather than litigate. The principle applies to nations as well as individuals.

The progress toward a permanent court of arbitration is most encouraging. To date 70 treaties of compulsory arbitration are in force among the nations. Numerous national disagreements which a few years ago might have led to war have been successfully arbitrated. The numerous revolutions among the Spanish-American states that formerly would burst into full force before breakfast now rarely get beyond the budding stage. Arbitration does the trick.

The second Hague conference made difficult the opening of hostilities by providing that either party, instead of two by mutual consent, may demand a reference of the dispute to the Hague tribunal. An international prize court was established to care for the rights of neutrals and provided for a third reference under international initiative. This reference will be called about 1915. By that time it is hoped the nations will organize a permanent international court, which will open the way to an abandonment of armies and navies.

for farmers not joining an order with such a record for good deeds as that of the Grange. Besides our work is not done. The needs of the people demand the establishment of a "rural post" by the U. S. government and there is no reason why they should not have it and that right speedily except that it would reduce the income of the express companies in the country and we will not get it established, however badly we need it, until the people become aroused and compel their representatives in congress to pass a law establishing it. Then our wool growers need protection from the unjust and dishonest competition they have to encounter with the products of the various manufacturers of shoddy in the country. We need our road laws revised so they may meet the demand of the times and distribute the cost of building and maintaining good roads in a just and equitable manner among those who are benefited by them. The railroads and all other vast business corporations must be regulated by law in some way to prevent them from taking advantage of the immense power they possess in oppressing the people. Our Agricultural colleges, experiment stations and other public institutions all require and must have their full share of public appropriations to enable them to meet the demands of the times upon them and there are numerous other interests of public character which effect the farmers and which must receive their support or else suffer for want of it. We believe there never was a time when the combined influence of the rural population should be so concentrated upon these matters which effect our interests as to compel our law makers to give the people such legislation as necessity requires and our industrial conditions demand as there is today.

"Time's Flight Turned Backward" SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT
STATE OF NEW YORK } ss. Rochester, N. Y.
County of Monroe }
Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

SULTAN ABDUL HAMID SUICIDED THIS MORNING

(By Roy K. Moulton)
A Sultan Abdul Hamid committed suicide this morning. He was married and leaves 1,095 widows to mourn his loss. Funeral arrangements later. Please omit bombs.
9 a. m.—The sultan, who committed suicide this morning, has just opened negotiations with the revolutionists and is bearing up well under the strain. He is in excellent health although he is not in the sultan's health for that purpose. Later—It has been learned that the sultan fled the country aboard a foreign man-of-war at 8:55 today and is now in St. Petersburg.
9:01 a. m.—News has just reached here that there was a battle this morning near Adrianople. It was a very strenuous affair and was between Kid Paasha, the pride of the Smyrna Ghetto, and Young Bey of Constantinople for the lightweight championship. It was to have gone twenty rounds to a decision, but the police interfered. Hangdog Paasha has erected a merry-go-round in the public square at Adrianople for the purpose of teaching the young Turks to become revolutionists.
9:32 a. m.—The Yildiz Kiosk, palace of the sultan, which was burned to the ground by the revolutionists early this morning, is receiving a new coat of paint and the sultan's wives are at their annual housecleaning. The sultan threatens to flee the country. The revolutionists insist upon forcing a new constitution upon the sultan, but the latter declares his constitution is all right since he cut out those genuine Turkish cigarettes which are imported from Cincinnati, Ohio.
10 a. m.—The sultan, who has been confined to his bed several days in the last stages of inflammatory rheumatism, took a long horseback ride this morning.
He is in excellent spirits and there are some excellent spirits in him. Later—The sultan died at 9:59 o'clock, but has arranged for a review of his troops this afternoon. He is now considered out of danger.
10:48 a. m.—The sultan had just abdicated the throne, but intends to remain upon it as usual. The sultan is now in Hongkong and expects to take a tramp steamer tonight for Venezuela, but will give a garden party at the Yildiz Kiosk here this afternoon, weather and revolutionists permitting.
11 a. m.—Arrangements for the sultan's funeral are about completed, with the exception of one slight detail. The sultan is not yet dead. The booming of cannon is heard at the gates of the city.
Later—It was only a member of the band practicing the funeral march upon his brass drum. The people are calm and quiet, but intense excitement prevails. The sultan was shot in the arm this morning. Physicians state he will have to cut this out as his hydrophobia are not good for what ails him.
11:1—Revolutionists have captured the city and sacked it, but have been successfully repulsed, not being able to enter the gates. The sultan has just—
Later addresses are to the effect that the interruption in the news service was caused by several of the sultan's wives, who cut off nine miles of telegraph wire for the purpose of using it to hang out the family washing. (More anon.)

Over in Europe negroes are seen so seldom that they are not regarded as having any bearing upon social conditions. They are simply accepted as any other foreigners.
Apropos of this, a well known Louisville man tells an experience which befell an old negro "mammy" whom he took along with his family. They were staying at a Parisian hotel and the old woman was startled almost out of her wits to receive an invitation from the head waiter to go out for a drive.
The waiter could speak English a little bit and thought, no doubt, that this visitors from the land of the free would be glad to mingle in the social life of the gay capital.
"Go 'way, fuh, heah, white man!" she said, severely. "Haccum you ast me sech a fool question? Ah don't hab nutthin' to do wif no 'no' white trash, an' you needn't ast me!"
It is unnecessary to add that the head waiter made no further effort to extend the social amenities. Louisville Courier-Journal.

WAKING IRELAND.
Sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle can hardly fail to take great interest in the proposed rejuvenation of their native land, the rejuvenation of which is being planned to take place in 1910. There is much good basis for the optimism of the persons who are responsible for the idea. Ireland has never been exploited except as the home of attractive tradition and engaging legend. But there is good reason to believe that it will some day become famous as a great center of industry and commerce.
Irish people are by nature industrious, and their skill is unquestioned; one has only to consider their best-known product, Irish linen, to realize that this is true. But they have not been granted the opportunities which have been given to others in less restricted countries.
Given the opportunity and reasonable incentive, it is not too much to expect that the Irish may become essentially a producing nation. Up to the present time encouragement has been lacking in the way of capital. This is now said to be forthcoming. Another handicap has been the lack of coal, but Ireland is especially favored in the matter of streams that could be well utilized to provide waterpower, when electricity can be generated.
Give Ireland a fair chance.—Pittsburg Post.

MONEY LOANED AT 6 PER CENT
For buying or building homes and for purchase of farms with privilege of paying off at any time. No interest charged beyond date of paying off loan.
A new form of loan has been adopted whereby the privilege of reducing the principal monthly is granted the borrower. The many who have already obtained money from THE LIMA HOME AND SAVINGS ASSOCIATION under this new plan, highly endorse it, because every payment made is so divided in the pass book as to show how much is used for interest and how much to reduce the principal. There is also a column showing every time a payment is made, how much of the principal is unpaid. A plan so simple as this will commend itself to every borrower. May we not have the opportunity of discussing our plan with you.
